ARRET of the king's council of ſtate, concerning foreign commerce with the French iſlands in America, of the 30th of Auguſt, 1784.

(Extracted from the records of the council of ſtate)

THE king ever diligent to conciliate the increaſe and growth of his American colonies, with the general extenſion of the trade of his kingdom, has never loſt ſight of the means which might contribute to the proſperity of his poſſeſſions beyond the ſeas without diminiſhing the advantages due to the metropolis from their eſtabliſhments—but the principles to be adopted to attain this end produced difficulties, which could alone be ſurmounted in proportion as experience ſhould ſhow what alteration might be proper in this important branch of adminiſtration. By the ſtate his majeſty has had laid before him of thoſe which have hitherto taken place, he has diſcovered, that it had become neceſſary, from time to time, to moderate the rigorous regulations firſt adopted in purſuance of the letters patent of the month of Oct. 1727, the ſtipulation whereof entirely barred foreigners from holding any part in the trade of the colonies; and that in order to maintain a juſt equilibrium between theſe intereſts, which might mutually to promote each other, a variety of modifications of thoſe ſevere regulations had, from time to time, become indiſpenſably adopted.

Conſidering alſo, that the preſent circumſtances of things require further indulgences, his majeſty has reſolved, that in adopting them it would be needful to increaſe the number of free ports in the French Windward and Leeward iſlands, to make a better uſage thereof, and to open them only to ſuch parts where they may be under the eye of government and of the national trade, in order to prevent deſtructive illicit commerce, or to puniſh it with the greater ſeverity, that ſo his majeſty having provided for the neceſſities of his colonie, the infractors of his laws might be the more inexcuſable. To accompliſh all which purpoſes, after having heard the report made to him on this ſubject. The king being preſent in council, his majeſty has ordained, and does ordain as follows, viz.

Article I. That in the iſland of St. Lucia, the only free port therein heretofore appointed, ſhall continue ſuch, viz. the Careenage of that iſland, and three new ones ſhall be opened for the Windward iſlands, viz. one at St. Pierre for Martinique, one at Pointe a Petre for Gaudalope and its dependencies, and one at Scarborough for Tobago. Three new ones ſhall alſo be opened for Hiſpaniola, one at Cape François, one at Port-au-Prince, and one at Cayes St. Louis, that heretofore exiſting at St Nicolas Mole in the ſame iſland, to be henceforth ſhut and abliſhed.

Article II. His majeſty permits for a time, and until it ſhall pleaſe him to order otherwiſe, all foreign ſhips of the burthen, at leaſt, of ſixty tons, loaded with only lumber of all kinds, dye-wood, coal, live cattle of all kinds, ſalted beef, but no pork, cod and other ſalted fiſh, rice, Indian corn, vegetables, dry and tanned hides, furs, roſin, pitch and tar, to proceed and trade therewith at the free ports mentioned in the preceding article.

Article III. Foreign ſhips who ſhall ſail to the ſaid free ports, either to carry there the articles allowed in the preceding article, or in ballaſt to load for account of foreigners, ſhall only be permitted to take away melaſſes, taffia or manufactures imported from France.

Article IV. All merchandiſe, the importation or exportation whereof is permitted foreigners in the ſaid free ports, ſhall be ſubject to the local duties exiſting in each colony, and ſhall pay over and above one per centum on the value.

Article V. Excluſive of the duty of one per cent. mentioned in the preceding article, ſalted beef, cod and ſalted fiſh ſhall pay three livres per quintal duty, and the proceeds of the ſaid three livres ſhall be applied as a fund, out of which premiums or bounties ſhall be paid on the importation of cod and ſalted fiſh from the French fiſheries.

Article VI. Foreign ſalted proviſions which ſhall be brought into the colonies by French veſſels ſailing directly from ſome port of the kingdom, ſhall not be ſubject to the payment of the duties mentioned in the two preceding articles.

Article VII. In each free port a number of officers ſhall be appointed to ſee that no other merchandiſes ſhall be imported or exported than thoſe mentioned in the ſecond and third articles of this arret; and in order that no doubt may exiſt as to their exactneſs, the ſaid authorities ſhall, French merchants and captains of ſhips reſiding in each of the ſaid free ports, to name from among them commiſſaries who ſhall report all neglects or abuſes they may diſcover, and ſhall attend when they may ſee proper at any inſpections which may take place on foreign veſſels arriving or ſailing.

Article VIII. Captains of foreign ſhips, who may proceed to the ſaid free ports, ſhall be held on pain of confiſcation of their veſſels and cargoes and a fine of one thouſand livres over and above, to keep off and give ſignals of their arrival, that immediately two officers may be ſent on board and a guard, if poſſible, to prevent any thing being landed until after the veſſel has been inſpected. If the ſaid captains arrive in the morning they ſhall in all the day, or if they arrive at night they ſhall the next morning, make an exact entry, as well in his majeſty's cuſtom-houſe as in the regiſter's office of the admiralty (where they ſhall perform all the uſual formalities,) of the ſpecies and quantity of the merchandiſe of which their cargo is compoſed; they ſhall preſent their bills of loading and charter parties, and ſhall not proceed to unload but with the care of the office and in the preſence of two officers, who ſhall inſpect the ſaid merchandiſe and make due report of their attending at the diſcharge of the veſſel. In like manner, when the ſaid veſſels ſhall leave the ſaid free ports, they ſhall not take in any cargo without firſt making a ſimilar declaration in the preſence of the ſame number of officers, obtaining the ſame declaration in due form of their attendance at the loading of the ſaid veſſel, and a permit from the board for her departure.

Article IX. If at the time of the inſpecting of the ſaid veſſels, during or previous to the loading or unloading of the ſame, there ſhould be found on board any ſuch foreign ſhips arriving in the ſaid free ports, or ſailing therefrom, any merchandiſe, other than that of which the importation and exportation are permitted by the 2d and 3d articles, the officers making ſuch inſpection ſhall make a due ſtatement thereof, and ſhall immediately deliver the ſame into the regiſter's office of the admiralty, where the attorney-general of his majeſty ſhall immediately demand of the officers of that court, the ſeizure of both veſſel and cargo, the confiſcation whereof ſhall be by them decreed, together with a fine of one thouſand livres: provided always, that liberty be allowed to appeal to the council or other ſuperior tribunal of the diſtrict.

Article X. French merchants, whether of the kingdom, or French colonies or iſlands, who ſhall be deſirous to engage in the importation of the foreign wares allowed of by the 2d article, or in the exportation to foreign ports of the merchandiſe permitted in the 3d article to be exported, ſhall be ſubjected to the like precautions, formalities and inſpections ordained for the ſhips of foreigners; they ſhall ſuffer the like penalties in caſe of contraband, and pay the ſame duties, excepting only the duty of one per cent. mentioned in the 4th article, from which they ſhall be exempted.

Article XI. All captains and owners of French ſhips, fitted either from the ports of this kingdom, or from thoſe of the French colonies, who may be deſirous to ſail from the ſaid colonies to the American coaſt, or even to St. Pierre and Miquelon, ſhall only be permitted to proceed from one of the free ports, under penalty of confiſcation of veſſel and cargo, and one thouſand livres fine; the ſaid captains or owners ſhall as uſual be bound to take out the preſcribed permiſſion of the governor and intendant, and the paſſport of the admiral, all of which ſhall be recorded in the admiralty; they ſhall, moreover, produce all the neceſſary documents, and ſubmit to all the inſpections that may be requiſite to aſcertain the contents of their cargoes, which ſhall alone conſiſt of melaſſes, taffia, and manufactures of France, in like manner as if they were foreigners.

Article XII. Clearances for foreign ports ſhall not be delivered unleſs for thoſe where his majeſty has conſuls, vice conſuls or agents, to whom they ſhall be preſented at their arrival and departure, to be by the ſaid conſuls examined and atteſted, and by the captains to be produced on their return to France or the colonies.

Article XIII. French ſhips which may have ſailed from any of the free ports for the American coaſt, or even for St. Pierre and Miquelon, or ſuch as may have ſailed from any port of the kingdom, and have touched at a foreign port, or even at the ſaid iſlands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, ſhall not, under pain of confiſcation of veſſel and cargo, and of one thouſand livres fine, return to the ſaid French iſlands or colonies, unleſs after firſt ſtopping at one of the free ports, in order to be ſubjected there to the like inſpections and viſits that foreign ſhips are expoſed to; they ſhall be held to make the ſame declarations and undergo the ſame formalities, and ſhall only bring with them the ſame merchandiſe, the importation whereof is permitted; after undergoing the ſaid viſits and inſpections, they ſhall obtain proper diſcharges, certificates whereof being delivered to the captains or ſupercargoes by the directions of his majeſty's board of cuſtoms, they ſhall be at liberty to proceed to ſuch port or harbour of the colony as they may ſee fit.

Article XIV. French veſſels fitted either from the French iſlands or ſome port of the kingdom, who may have touched at a foreign port, or at St. Pierre and Miquelon, and who may enter one of the free ports, ſhall be held under pain of the like confiſcation and fine, to hoiſt at three leagues diſtant ſuch flag or ſignal, as the admiralty ſhall direct, in order that at the time of their arrival officers from his majeſty's cuſtoms may be ſent on board.

Article XV. His majeſty orders that under the ſame penalties, foreign ſhips which have been permitted for a limited time, to introduce cargoes of blacks into the different admiralty ports of the Windward Iſlands, ſhall in future not be permitted to bring them to any other ports than the Careenage, St. Pierre, Pointe a Petre and Scarborough, in this reſpect repealing the arret of council of the 28th of June, 1783, which in all other matters ſhall continue to be executed according to the form and tenor thereof.

Article XVI. The proceeds of the confiſcations and penalties decreed, ſhall belong totally to the officers of his majeſty's board of cuſtoms, who may have effected or cauſed the ſeizure. As to veſſels taken in contraband trade by the ſhips or guarda coſtas of his majeſty, the ſame ſhall belong to the commanders, officers and crews of the ſhips ſo capturing—deducting only the coſts of ſuit, one tenth for the admiral, and ſix deniers on every livre for the benefit of the invalids of the marine ſervice. When there ſhall have been any informants, one third of the proceeds ſhall go to their profit.

Article XVII. His majeſty forbids expreſsly, all French ſubjects to lend their names to ſimulated papers for foreign ſhips, under the pain of three thouſand livres fine, to be applied to the benefit of the hoſpitals of the place where it happens, excluſive of the forfeiture of the veſſel, already ordained by the various regulations made on the ſubject of navigation. His majeſty enjoins his attornies in the admiralty courts, to take all neceſſary ſteps to proſecute thoſe who may contravene this order, on pain of being themſelves made anſwerable in caſe of neglect.

Article XVIII. His majeſty reſerves to himſelf the right, if it ſhall hereafter be thought proper, to open a free port for Cayenne and French Guyane, after the expiration of the time fixed by the arret of his council, for the general liberty of trade of that colony, dated 15th May laſt. Provided always, that until the expiration of that term, foreign or French veſſels, which may have touched at any port or harbour of Cayenne or French Guyane, ſhall not go to any other than the free ports of the Windward or Leeward Iſlands, on the ſame conditions, precautions, rules and penalties, mentioned in the preceding 13th and 14th articles.

Article XIX. Moreover the ſtipulations mentioned in the letters patent of the month of October, 1727, and the ordonnance and regulations ſubſequently made, reſpecting the foreign trade of the French iſlands and colonies, ſhall exiſt in full force and virtue, unleſs when they are repealed by the preſent arret.

His majeſty orders Monſieur le duc de Penthierre, admiral of France, and all governors, lieutenant-generals, commanders, intendants, commiſſary-generals, ordonnanteurs, and all others whom it may appertain, each for his own juriſdiction, to ſee to the execution of this arret. His majeſty alſo orders all councils and ſuperior tribunals of the French colonies in America, to proceed to the recording the ſame, that it may be read, publiſhed, and ſet up wherever it may be neceſſary.

Done at the king's council of ſtate, his majeſty being preſent, held at Verſailles the 30th day of Aug. 1784.

CHARLESTON, (S. C.) February 15.

From Kingston, in Jamaica, we learn, that Maurice Keaton, the pirate and murderer, was executed at Cuckold's-point, on the 27th of December last, near Port Royal, and afterwards his body was suspended in a lofty gibbet, in chains. He met his fate with uncommon resignation, penitence and fortitude; and told the surrounding multitude, after he was tied up, that he was not afraid of death, but courted the grim tyrant as a relief from all sorrows. He then turned to the executioner, and forbid him to take away the ladder, saying he would jump off himself when he was ready, which he accordingly did in about two minutes afterwards.

We are likewise informed that Joseph Twentyman, one of the persons who was charged with piracy and murder, died in the gaol of Kingston.

PROVIDENCE, February 26.

Captain Benjamin Page, in the brig Providence, arrived here on Sunday last from Jamaica, after a passage of 30 days. He sailed in company with captain Grant, in a brig belonging to Salem, and a ship bound to Liverpool. On the first instant, in beating up for the Gulph of Florida, they fell in with the Cayfal Keys, when the wind being high, captain Grant was unable to weather them, and ran over a reef, where he came to anchor. What damage his vessel sustained is not known. Captain Page saw her three days after in the same situation, but as it continued to blow hard, he could not afford the least assistance. The mate of the Providence died on her passage, and one man was lost off the jib boom end in a gale of wind. They were both Europeans.

The permission for importing provisions and lumber into the island of Jamaica, in foreign bottoms, was limited to "four months, and until further orders," according to the resolution of the governor and council. The period of four months expires the beginning of March, and whether the permission will then continue, was uncertain when captain Page sailed; a party in that island, who are unfriendly to these United States, wishing to exclude us from trading there.

We learn that the ship Union, captain Hazard, which sailed from this port in January last, is arrived at Charleston, South-Carolina, having been overset in a gale of wind at sea, and lost her bowsprit, two anchors, and one cable.

NEW-YORK, March 7.

According to a foreign print, the president-general of the order of Benedictines has written a letter to the emperor of Germany, respecting the suppression of religious societies; couched in terms the most nervous, expressive, dignified, and elegant. This ancient and learned body pleaded the universal use they have been of to mankind, and of whose order they say, there have been 20 popes, 200 cardinals, 700 archbishops, 41,500 bishops, 4000 saints, and upwards of 3000 martyrs.

By the Betsey, captain Fesson, from Hispaniola, we learn, that all the ports in that island were declared free. That previous to this, two brigs from Philadelphia with flour, had been seized, one of which had been condemned, vessel and cargo; but the other the cargo only; and that flour was as low as seven and a half dollars per barrel.

The emperor of Germany has commissioned two gentlemen at present in Charleston, to collect for him such different productions of nature as are to be found in that part of the country, either in the animal or vegetable class: they have been already very successful in their pursuits, and the cabinet at Vienna will receive no inconsiderable addition, from the unbounded variety with which bountiful nature has adorned South Carolina.

March 9. The American merchant in Spain, who was some time since mentioned as being seized and lodged in the hands of the officers of the inquisition, for speaking disrespectfully of the Romish church, we hear, is Mr. Hartwell, a gentleman from one of the eastern states.

Postscript of a letter from Martinique, to a gentleman in Salem, January 11, 1785.

"Since I wrote my letter I will just inform you, that this day is laid on here a duty of 4 liv. 10 s. on every quintal of cod fish and salt provisions, and an additional duty of five and a half per cent. on melasses and rum."

The vessel by which the above account came, was loaded with melasses, and the captain informs, that he paid five and a half per cent. duty on all he had on board, and adds, he could not on any terms bring one barrel of sugar or coffee, unless he did it at the risk of his vessel and cargo.

From undoubted authority we can assure the public, that a new loan of two millions of gilders, has been negotiated by the honourable John Adams, minister plenipotentiary of the United States of America, to the State General of the United Netherlands, and now ambassador to the court of London, in behalf of the said states, with Messieurs Wilhem and Jan Willinck, Nicholaas Jacob Van Staphorst, and de la Lande and Fynje. This contract has been ratified and declared obligatory on the United States of America, by congress.

We learn, that in consequence of a request from that aged and venerable patriot Dr. Franklin, congress have permitted him to retire from public employment; and they have it now in contemplation, to appoint a minister to succeed him at the court of Versailles.

PHILADELPHIA, March 10.

His Most Christian Majesty's packet Le Courier de l'Orient, captain Coetnempren, will sail from New-York for l'Orient the 15th instant; and his Britannic majesty's packet Speedy, captain d'Auvergne, will sail for Falmouth from New-York on the 12th.

The Christian, Pibbles, from Lisbon; Betsey, Feston, from Hispaniola; Pilgrim, Vail, from Charleston; and Suckey and Betsey, Halleter, from North-Carolina, are arrived at New-York.

A MESSAGE from the president and the supreme executive council, to the general assembly.

GENTLEMEN,

WE have the pleasure of informing you, that at a treaty held last October, at Fort Stanwix, with the Six Nations, called Mohocks, Oneidaes, Onondagoes, Cayugaes, Senecaes, and Tuscaroraes; and at another, held last January, at Fort Macintosh, with the Two Nations, called Wyandots, and Delawares, the commissioners, on the part of this commonwealth, have purchased from the said Indians, all that territory within the acknowledged limits of the state, that had not been before bought from them.

The minutes of these treaties, the deeds, and copies of our instructions, and several other papers relating to this business, will be delivered with this message.

These conveyances completing the sale of all the lands in this state, thus, happily finishing the transactions of a century, on that subject; having been obtained at public treaties; agreeably to ancient custom; with the approbation of the United States; the Indians acknowledging themselves "kindly" and "generously" dealt with—declaring that "Pennsylvania has never deceived or wronged them—and, thanking her, not only from their lips, but also from their hearts." We are persuaded, that such a fair, equitable, and honourable confirmation of the public interest, in so very large and valuable a tract of country, must be exceedingly agreeable to the good people of Pennsylvania.

It is cause of additional satisfaction, that in accomplishing this important object, a due regard has been had to the federal councils, and that a friendly correspondence between the continental commissioners and our own, subsisted throughout the treaties.

As we have every reason to believe, that the affections of the Indians are now conciliated, their confidence gained, and their former friendship restored, in such a manner, that their present dispositions may, by proper measures, be improved to great advantage. We hope your honourable house will judge their requests worthy of immediate attention.

We should not do justice to the merit of our commissioners, if we omitted to express ourselves very sensible of the ability, diligence, frugality and fidelity with which they have discharged the trust reposed in them.

JOHN DICKINSON.

Council Chamber,
Philadelphia, February 24th, 1785.

Extract of a letter received from Europe by a gentleman in Philadelphia.

"On the 11th of October an armed ship belonging to the emperor of Morocco, carried into the ports of Tangiers, a Virginia vessel called the Ranger, captain Irwin. It is apprehended this example will be followed by other piratical powers of the Mediterranean sea.

"As soon as the charge d'affaires of the United States, at the court of Madrid, received the above intelligence, he applied to the charge d'affaires of France, who wrote a letter to the French consul at Tangiers, for the relief of the unfortunate American captives. A similar letter has been obtained from the Dutch ambassador at Madrid; the Spanish ministers have also promised their interference.

"Such applications may prove effectual in the present case; but something must certainly be done towards an agreement with those piratical monarchs, or the same accidents must be continually apprehended."

The monthly reviewers in their critical observations on the literary productions of November, 1785, have made the following remark on a letter from general Washington to general Greene, &c. viz.

"An exposition of the motives of this American Cincinnatus for returning again to the plough. His reasons do honour to his good understanding and amiable disposition; and his parting advice to the United States, is such as they ought to write in letters of gold, on the front of their state-house—if they had enough of that precious metal to spare from more pressing demands."

This verifies the adage,—that he is

Vir etiam ab hoste laudandus!

From a late New-York Paper.

The following letter intended for my negro Quash was, by mistake, delivered to me. As the author seems possessed of a very laudable ambition, and already feels the spirit of liberty, I cannot but conceive it affords me exquisite pleasure; and doubt not it will be a most acceptable present to every other person who has been instrumental in affecting the emancipation of the poor Africans; you will therefore be pleased to give it a place in your paper.

FORMERLY the property of colonel Francis Thornton, is in high perfection at the subscriber's, and will cover mares the ensuing season at fifteen dollars.

Cub is from the first stock in England and Arabia, as appears from his pedigree, which is so well known, to insert it now will be useless.

The uncommon strength, activity, and great performance of Cub's colts on the turf, renders him in estimation equal to any horse on the continent.

THIRTY DOLLARS REWARD.

For apprehending two negro men.

Annapolis, March 24, 1785.

RAN away from the subscriber's plantation on the north side of Severn river, two country born negro men (who are brothers) the elder named PETER, twenty-five years of age, five feet ten or eleven inches high, strait and well made, his face rather small and black, affects a lofty stile of speech; his apparel is a short white coarse cloth coat, and I think blue cloth cuffs and cape, black corded worsted stuff jacket and breeches, osnabrig shirt, yarn stockings, and double soled negro shoes, but may have other cloaths unknown to me.

Negro GEORGE, about twenty-three years of age, five feet nine or ten inches high, has a very lubberly gait, stoops forward, and has a very sly down look; his apparel, a white country cloth jacket and breeches, osnabrig shirt, yarn stockings and negro shoes; he likewise may have other cloaths.

Negro Peter went away some time in the fore part of the last month, and negro George went away in the beginning of this present month; it is supposed negro Peter lurked in and about the town until he saw his brother, and that they are now together, as a few days after George ran away, one other negro fellow was met from the same plantation on his way to Annapolis, and being examined, said he was going to join Peter, whom he stiled captain Peter.

Whoever apprehends the above negroes, Peter and George, and delivers them to me in Annapolis, shall receive as a reward ten dollars, or five for each if in or within ten miles of Annapolis; twenty dollars if above ten miles, or ten dollars for each; and if out of the county thirty dollars, if secured in any county gaol, or fifteen dollars for either so that I get them again; and if brought home all reasonable charges paid by tf THOMAS HYDE.

N. B. The above negroes ran away last summer; George was taken, Peter was absent near three months, and was taken in Annapolis, he said he had been at work about the Head of South river; it is hoped they will not be employed or entertained by any person after this notice.

Saint Margaret's Westminster parish, March 1, 1785.

NOTICE is hereby given, that a petition will be preferred to the next general assembly, to pass a law directing and empowering the justices of Anne-Arundel county, to assess on the inhabitants of Saint Margaret's Westminster parish, the sum of fifty-four pounds seven shillings sterling, with interest, to repay the reverend Mr Magowan a sum of money by him advanced for the completing of the Chapel of Ease, in the said parish.

The owner may have him again proving property and paying charges.

RAN away from the subscriber, living near Annapolis, on the 29th of June 1784, a mulatto man named PETER, forty years of age, five feet four inches high, he has a sneaking down look, is a dark skinned mulatto, has big eyes, and has lost almost all his teeth; had on when he went away, a black and white country cloth jacket, and white country cloth breeches, osnabrig shirt, an under jacket without sleeves of a dark colour. Whoever takes up the said mulatto man, and secures him so that his master may get him again, shall receive if taken six miles from home eight dollars, if twenty miles five pounds, if forty miles or further ten pounds, paid by BALDWIN LUSBY.
